When to seek advice from whom?

Subject-related:

Professors/Teaching staff

e.g. questions about content, literature and learning materials, methods, etc.

Departmental academic advisors

e.g. study planning, decisions, choosing majors, examination regulations, credit transfer, etc.

Other study-related questions and beyond:

Zentrale Studienberatung (Advising and Counselling) at Service Center Studium (Sedanstr. 6)

e.g. motivation, reorientation, decision-making, learning process, study organisation, stress, crises, etc.

- Confidential, anonymous if necessary, open-ended
 - If necessary, referral to other contacts (representatives for students with chronic illnesses/disabilities, psychotherapeutic counselling, employment agency, etc.)

What to do when things get tough? Turbulence during your studies

Perplexity, doubt and crises are normal parts of studying – the Advising and Counselling team at SCS helps in sorting it out:

Fostering mental health:

Help with emergencies, conflicts, and harassment:

Central mentoring programmes at the University of Freiburg: EmpowerMent and Intercultural Mentoring (ICM)

EmpowerMent:

For students whose journey through university does not always feel straightforward – for example, because they:

- are the first in their family to study;
- have a migrant background;
- are responsible for providing intensive care;
- live with a health condition.
